The Class of 1965
presents the

STOTONIAN

STOUGHTON HIGH SCHOOL
STOUGHTON, MASS.

Prologue

High school is composed of bits and pieces of life—bricks and glass, books and paper, activities and leisure. Most of all, it is composed of people, people who teach and people who learn. Together they determine the spirit of Stoughton High School: the studies, the good times, the hopes and the memories.

The staff of the 1965 Stotonian has endeavored to capture this spirit with pen and ink. This yearbook represents a small but most significant segment of life, a segment filled with memories on which to build the future.

Stoughton
Historical Society

Dedication

Exuberance, strength, and promise. The spirit of a high school is largely dependent upon its principal. Into the spirit of Stoughton High School Thomas J. Whalen has injected these characteristics with his qualities of leadership and character. To his guidance and friendship, we owe much of the success of our high school years. Therefore, we dedicate with warmest thanks this yearbook, the record of our high school days, to Principal Thomas J. Whalen.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

School Committee

"Socrates . . .

Whom, well inspir'd, the oracle pronounc'd wisest of men."—John Milton

The main purpose of your high school education has been to give you the inspiration to seek further knowledge to make this chaotic world a better place in which to live. The School Committee, through the agents of teachers and administrators, strives to wake our students from the lethargy of the "So what?" and "Who cares?" attitude which seems to possess many of this generation. We have faith in your ability, once stimulated by the inspiration toward wisdom, to seek further learning in the scientific, economic, professional or social fields, whether by advanced education or self-teaching.

If we have exposed you to such inspiration, we feel our efforts as guardians of your public school education have been well rewarded. Our congratulations and best wishes go with you on the path to wisdom.

APPLETON C. WOODWARD, M.D.
Chairman, School Committee

Superintendent

To The Class of 1965

An air of urgency pervades our time. It is present in state, national and international relations, in government, in politics, in business and in education. Ours is a time for action, for new ideas, for bold ventures in new directions. In the years ahead opportunities will abound for you to take part in developing new ideas and charting the course for new directions for our democratic society.

A healthy democracy depends on an intelligent and morally upright electorate. As you prepare to enter our democratic society, you must be ready to contribute to a wholesome, social environment. Your public school education has endeavored to prepare you as a citizen to carry forward the ideals of justice, freedom, fidelity and brotherhood. You must be willing to assume your responsibilities and carry forward our American heritage.

I congratulate you on your individual and group attainments, and I extend my best wishes to all of you in the years ahead. Go forth with hope, confidence and a desire to excel, and I am certain that you will attain your goal and that you will be a credit to yourselves, your parents and your school.

Sincerely,

JOSEPH H. GIBBONS
Supt. of Schools

To The Class of 1965

Congratulations on your graduation and best wishes for your future success.

This class has distinguished itself in several areas: scholastic achievements; student leadership; journalism; and athletics. Although these accomplishments have earned honors for individual members of the class, they constitute a collective legacy which your class presents to future classes. The individual's success, therefore, contributes to the enrichment of a class tradition and also enhances the prestige of the school.

These accomplishments also suggest that success is a process, not a goal; a way of living, not an aim of life. Just as your individual school successes produced a rich class tradition, your striving for success in later life will promote a better society and, in turn, a stronger America.

Sincerely yours,
THOMAS WHALEN
Principal

Principal

Assistant Principal

To The Class of 1965

Your achievement of graduation from Stoughton High School proves to you and the community, your ability to develop a long range objective and follow through to its final completion.

I am sure that your continued application of the fine qualities of cooperation, academic achievement and service to your fellow man will result in the fulfillment of a satisfying, worthwhile career.

Congratulations and best wishes to the class of 1965.

ARTHUR L. PENARDI
Assistant Principal

Director of Guidance

To The Class of 1965

During the past twelve years many individuals and organizations have contributed to your growth and development. Your parents, teachers, and friends have worked with you at home, in school, and in the community to promote personal characteristics that will allow you to realize your highest potential.

Not only your future is involved, but also our national welfare, security and growth. Whether you enter employment, higher education, or the Armed Forces, you will continue to have opportunities for personal development and growth. Take advantage of every opportunity to improve yourself and your community. The Guidance Staff at Stoughton High School will continue to be at your service at any time that we can assist you in furthering your educational or vocational plans.

Best wishes to each and everyone of you for future success and happiness.

Class History

The Class of 1965 entered Stoughton High School just like any other freshman class, noisy and full of plans. With the help of our class advisor, Mr. Arata, the class officers: President Thomas Hunt, Vice-President Rose DiRusso, Secretary Barbara Novak, and Treasurer David Lindelof; and the Executive Committee sponsored our first dance, the Frosh Fling. The following five girls were members of the Junior Varsity cheering squad: Genevieve Lochiatto, Diane Siegfried, Rose DiRusso, Ann Landolfi, and Patricia Bannon.

We entered our sophomore year with a new feeling of confidence. Capable leaders had been elected: David Lindelof, president; Rose DiRusso, vice-president; Susan Clark, secretary; and Paul Landry, treasurer. The year was a success both socially and financially. The first dance, Sno-bound, was held in January. Everyone pitched in to make the cake sale at the B.P.M. a success. The year closed with our second dance, Sea 'n Surf.

Kathy Noonan was a sophomore majorette. In December, eight members of the Class of '65 were made associate members of the National Honor Society. They were George Barnard, Robert Carvin, Andrea Dembrowsky, Kathleen Lynch, Regina Ryan, Catherine Seymour, William Thompson, and Patricia Whelan.

Upperclassmen at last! Our junior year was busier than any of us had dreamed! Our officers were Dana Clancy, Brenda Kirwan, Susan Clark, and Edward Gomes. We were disappointed to learn that our class advisor, Mr. Arata, was not returning to S.H.S., but pleased to discover that this important position would be in the hands of Mr. Chester Peirce. Genevieve Lochiatto, Donna Kimtis, Rose DiRusso, Patricia Bannon, and Ann Landolfi were selected as varsity cheerleaders; Regina Ryan, Mary Creeden, and Kathy Noonan were majorettes. Brenda Kirwan was the representative to Girls' State; Dana Clancy, Paul Reilly, William Thompson, and George Barnard were our representatives at Boys' State.

Financial gains were recognized with the success of our class project, stuffed Black Knights; and two well-attended dances, Menagerie and Mardi Gras. The biggest social event of the year took place on May 7, 1964. This was our own junior prom, Some Enchanted Evening. Held in the Junior High School Cafeteria, the scene might have been the middle of Paris. The affair was climaxed by the crowning of the queen, Susan Clark. It was truly an event to remember, a perfect end to an exciting year.

We returned from summer vacation convinced that our senior class would be better than any other. Class officers, Dana Clancy, Andrea Dembrowsky, Kathi Locke, and Edward Gomes planned the year's activities and Brenda Kirwan and Richmond Woodward began work on the Stotonian. Patricia Whelan was editor-in-chief of the Semaphore. Robert Zepf and Susan Drislane held the offices of President and Secretary of the Student Council.

Football captains Dana Clancy and Paul Reilly led the Black Knights to one of their most successful seasons in quite a few years. Rose DiRusso was the cheerleader captain, and Regina Ryan, assisted by Mary Creeden, headed the majorettes. The Varsity and girls' basketball teams were captained by Joseph Pitta and Regina Ryan, respectively. Track captains were Paul Reilly and Michael Grimmins; David Frye headed the baseball team.

Our first big event was the Spaghetti Supper, held on October 24, 1965 at the Junior High. Chefs, waitresses, busboys, and patrons all helped to make the evening a smashing success. It was an unforgettable display of class spirit and unity.

"Blue Christmas," a truly beautiful dance, took place at the Junior High on December 18, 1964. Like all Christmas dances, Santa paid a visit, but also brought with him Rudolph, the Abominable Snowman, a dentist, and assorted elves and misfit toys. It was a wonderful evening that would mark our last high school Christmas holiday.

Senior Week was a whirl of confusion and parties. Who will ever forget the class trip or the Senior Reception? As we left Stoughton High School on that memorable day of June 4, 1965, we looked back over four years of memories; some good, some bad. Yet no matter how far we stray from Stoughton High, we will never forget the Class of '65.

Class Will

Through our generosity and kindness, we the class of '65 leave the following fraudulent, disorderly, document which no doubt in time will be a collector's item.

To start the whole shebang, our George Barnard leaves his tie clip that he lost in B corridor. Anyone who has an extra one, please contact George . . . John McKenzie leaves Jack Murphy his A-1 1954 Chevy that doesn't burn oil. That's what they all say! . . . Paul Valutkevich leaves his doctored report card . . . Fred Raila leaves his height to anyone who can use it . . . Linda Silva leaves a horrendous headache without an aspirin to her baby brother . . . Frank Dawson leaves his roguey ski poles to his sister Joan . . . Elaine White leaves her red nylons to Mr. Willis. (They probably won't even fit him.) . . . Mary Case leaves her pages of unintelligible notes . . . Regina Ryan leaves her whistle to next year's captain of the majorettes . . . Mike Crimmins leaves his lunch ticket to Sharon Heffernan (how sweet) . . . To Bob Hayward, Bob Veazue leaves all his broken drumsticks . . . Lee Cutler leaves all her short skirts to anyone who can get away with wearing them . . . Pat McGinn leaves with gum on her nose from Mrs. Hogg's sessions . . . Richard Green leaves Miss Venti's French classes; Paul Dell leaves his Palmer method handwriting to the despairing teachers who find it exasperating . . . George Yaitaines leaves Joe Pires the "end" in peace . . . Warren Lincoln's brother receives all his sympathy . . . To Mr. Knowles, Bill McMann leaves old movie projector so the next classes can have films . . . Cheryl Frederickson leaves her candy to the next hungry student in Miss Kane's classes. And believe you me, you can get pretty hungry after 3rd hour . . . Chuck Davidaitis and Terry Gusciora leave shouting "Physics is fun!" . . . Wayne Boutelier, Dennis Forrester and David Conrad kindly bequeath to Mr. Penardi a new transmission . . . Maureen O'Hare, Beverly Simms, Pat Bannon, Janice Dyke, Donna Clifford, Louise Clinch, Kathleen Greely, and Judy Craig. (whew) leave top lockers to the Jolly Green Giant . . . Donna Kimtis and Ann Landolfi regretfully leave their years of cheerleading . . . Here goes again: Janet Chesworth, Mary Creeden, Mary Welch, Nancy Morse, Chris Letowski, Gingie Wetherbee, and Carolyn Steinberg leave their "felis domestica" to next years physiology classes . . . Goldwater buttons from William Lunsford and James Parent go to any disillusioned fans . . . Penny Noe leaves her A's to Sue Roberts . . . Marjorie Dean leaves sticky typewriter keys . . . Margi Garjian leaves her locker to Wolfie. Does she mean that literally? . . . One crumpled crucible is awarded to Mr. Keliher from Carl Waal . . . Larry Tapper walks out the doors holding his chronically broken shoulder . . . Tom Botelho leaves his early morning urge for a cigarette to T.R. and B.A. . . . Peggy Danahy leaves her southern accent to "Mistuh" Coen . . . John Sullivan leaves science fair buttons to Mr. Vogel . . . Bonnie DeCapot leaves the Chemistry lab, laughing, hmm . . . Rick Woodward leaves all of Mr. Gregory's unused equipment for next years P.S.S.C. class . . . Dick Bowen leaves his jungle boots to Mr. Keliher (Mr. Keliher seems to be doing alright for himself in this will.) . . . Dave Lyons and Bill Howell bequeath all their scientific knowledge to Mr. Keliher . . . Karen DeVasto leaves her blood to Mr. Peirce (ugh) . . . There's a seaman amidst us—Deane Geddes leaves a locker way up in the "Boondocks" to someone who is able to do a lot of running . . . Bob Flynn has a locker combination that doesn't work. Anyone want it? . . . Joyce Kennedy leaves her well-used typing erasers to Jean Stewart . . . Cynthia Walsh leaves Macbeth's three witches . . . Arthur Trofomovics leaves Mr. Nastasi the two sessions he owes him . . . John Clark leaves Robert Clark his safety glasses and shop coat . . . More locker trouble; Jim Crane leaves his locker that locks to someone with a key . . . Paul Crepeau and Timothy Smyth leave their shot guns to Jack Murphy. For hunting, I suppose . . . Another present for Mr. Keliher; a slightly used slide ruler from Paul Smedile . . . Great news for Mr. Hughes; Louise McFayden leaves him peace of mind . . . Carol Medeiros leaves her ride to school to Al Benson . . . Joe Pitta leaves his basketball uniform to anyone who'll take good care of it . . . Linda Barbato leaves still trying to sell patron ads. (So that all you lucky people can read this yearbook.) . . . John Falandys leaves 24 feet of rubber at the parking lot . . . Dixie Pushee leaves her gym socks to Mary Ann and Janice . . . Dana Clancy leaves a broken javelin to Joe Pires . . . Mrs. Hogg receives Sue Morency's broken fingernails . . . Also to Mrs. Hogg goes Debbie Doherty, the "Baby" of the senior gym class, from Val Crocetti . . . Mr. Lynch gets a new Achilles Tendon—a gift from Dana Corbett . . . Wayne Viega leaves without knowing why he came . . . A package of pumpkin seeds travels from Brenda Kirwan to Joe Pires . . . Donna Drew, Susan Mears, Bud Crosby, James Waletskas, Candy Tripp, Ron Valery, Rick Williams, and Kathy Lynch just plain leave . . . Betty Birtwhistle still is trying to decide what to leave . . . Even the states of New York and Arizone are going to hear from good old S.H.S.! Off to New York are Barbara Dean; Sue Drislane, Pat Lynch and Sue Clark . . . "Podner" Cathy Cohenno rides (horseback, maybe) to Arizona . . . Mike McLaughlin leaves all his sessions to Lynne. Ah, love.

Well! Puff, Puff. There it is. Try and figure some of them out. We couldn't. We just print the facts. The names haven't been changed to protect the innocent.

Committee

Under the leadership of officers: President Kevin Duffy, Vice-President Marie Dembrowsky, Secretary Leslie Anthony, and Treasurer Bill Lyttle, the class of '66 enjoyed a successful Junior year. With the help of Mrs. Savicki, class adviser, the officers and executive committee directed the class in earning a great deal for the class treasury.

"Campus Wolves," stuffed animals chosen as the class project, proved to be very popular with the entire student body. Sales from this project increased the funds of the class greatly.

Late in January, the class sponsored its first dance of the year, "The Wantell Wabble." Like the project, the dance was very successful. Perhaps one of the biggest social events of the year, the Junior Prom, held in May, was a never-to-be-forgotten evening.

The spirited Junior class also contributed the talents of its members to many of the athletic teams of S.H.S. The '65-'66 football season will be sparked by co-captains Paul McEachron and Paul Mettler; basketball by co-captain Jake McShea. In addition, the class of '66 boasts several varsity cheerleaders as well as members of several musical and academic groups.

With its excellent leadership and good spirit, the class of '66 will without a doubt make its Senior year successful. Best wishes to the Juniors from the class of '65.

The Sophomore class, sparked by the energetic leadership of officers: President Pete Silva, Vice-President Terry Clancy, Secretary Janice Polvinen, and Treasurer Paul Homer, sought to compensate for its financially unprofitable Freshman year. Due to lack of facilities at the high school level, the class was divided into two portions, one portion attending the High School, the other attending the Junior High. As a result, the class was unable to organize and consequently lost funds which might otherwise have been raised.

With the help of the officers and executive committee and the guidance of class adviser Mr. Tapper, the class was well on its way toward financial improvement. On Dec. 22 & 23, the Sophomores sponsored a profitable cake sale. Early in February the class held its first dance "Sophomore Shuffle." Both activities helped to accumulate money for the treasury.

The Sophomores also began to play a key role in the spirit of Stoughton High. Future promise is shown by such outstanding athletes as '65-'66 basketball co-captain Pete Silva, as well as Barry Meade, Wes French, Al Jardin, Bill Powell, Pete Johnson, John Klim, and Dave Crean, all of whom play on the varsity football squad. Several members of the class also participate in junior varsity cheerleading and on the majorette squad.

The class of '65 wishes to extend best of luck to the class of '66 for a profitable and enjoyable Junior year.

Unusually high class spirit and ingenuity mark the Class of '68 as shown in their Pep Rally. In place of the usual cheering and singing, the class presented humorous skits titled: "That was the Game that Was," "It's a Silly Game," and "What a Game! What a Game!"

The officers: President William Clark, Vice-President Christine Whalen, Secretary Jeanne Dawe, and Treasurer Edward Lindelof led the class in many fundraising activities. The freshmen sponsored a profitable Mothers' Day Sweet Sale and the equally successful freshman dance held on April 30.

The freshman teams showed great athletic promise by earning admirable records. The basketball team scored with eight wins and two losses, while the freshman football team earned four wins, one loss and one tie.

The freshman year proved memorable for both the class and school. The class of '65 hopes that their next three years will be as enjoyable.

How To Make a Yearbook

We find a quiet place to work. Using our competent minds and skillfull hands we artfully design a plan of action.

We work diligently. There's no time for play.

And away we go!

Semaphore

EDITORS

The Semaphore, Stoughton High School's quarterly news publication, is under the direction of Mr. Frank Coen. In addition to publishing school news and editorial comments, the paper also provides a literary section for those who have talent in this field. The paper features such columns as the Roving Reporter, the Reviewing Stand, and the popular Sportscript. Senior editors are: Pat Whelan, editor-in-chief, and Andrea Dembrowsky, Linda Barbato, George Barnard, Joyce Kennedy, and Mary Creeden. Junior editors are: Kevin Duffy, Shirley Cohenno, Nancy Foster, Janice Anagnoston, and Karen Olziewski.

Dramatic Club

Under the direction of Mr. Sumner Tapper, Stoughton High's Dramatic Club has completed its ninth year. Over 40 members, make this year's club the largest ever at S.H.S. The officers for the '64-'65 season included: President Karen Lemos, Vice-President Sue Manganis and Secretary Pat Whelan. The workshop production, which took place in December, contained a scene from a variety of great plays. The annual Dramatic Club play, "12 Angry Jurors," was a complete success, all participants doing a marvelous job. For the high school Dramatic Club competition, Mr. Tapper selected the play "A Cup of Tea."

THE THESPIAN SOCIETY—The Thespian Society has been reactivated, with the help of Mr. Tapper. Its members include Karen Lemos, Pat Whelan, and Sue Manganis.

National Honor Society

The Stoughton Chapter of the National Honor Society, under the direction of Mrs. Manchester, presently consists of about 43 members. Election to the Honor Society in the Junior or Sophomore year is first considered on the basis of high scholastic achievement. A minimum average of 88% is required for eligibility. Candidates are then judged on the basis of character, leadership, and school or community service. If selected for admission to the Stoughton Chapter, candidates are inducted at the annual April banquet. Members are expected to maintain the scholastic average which was the basis for their election. Officers for the year 1964-'65 are: President John Sullivan, Vice-President Brenda Kirwan, Secretary Andrea Dembrowsky, and Treasurer George Barnard.

Student Council

The Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Carlton Cormier, has once again assumed a high level of importance at Stoughton High School. This year's Student Council with officers, Bob Zepf, president; Janice Anagnoston, vice-president; Sue Drislane, secretary; and Carmen Santoro, treasurer, participated in many activities, such as supervision of class elections, the Fall and Spring Student Council Conventions, and the Student Exchange Program. Once again the Student Council Christmas Basket Appeal proved highly successful. In addition, the Student Council sponsored the annual Alumni Game and Dance. Assuming an active roll in Stoughton High School life, the Student Council looks forward to years of growth and improvement.

Boys' State

Each year Massachusetts Boys' State holds a week-long session at the University of Massachusetts campus. This session is devoted to the study of state government through a series of lectures, meetings, and actual practice. The boys set up a model state with towns, counties, and political parties. Through town meetings, party caucuses, and actual elections, the representatives learn the various phases of governmental procedure, both local and statewide. This year, Stoughton High School's representatives were Dana Clancy, George Barnard, Bill Thompson, and Paul Reilly. Alternates were Bob Carvin and John Sullivan.

Girls' State

Like Boys' State, the objective of Massachusetts Girls' State is to educate its members in the duties and privileges of citizenship. The session is held at the campus of Bridgewater State College under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary. This year's program was highlighted with a speech by Mrs. Endicott Peabody, wife of the former governor of Massachusetts. Girls' State studies the rapidly changing role of women in government and politics and emphasizes the precious democracy which every responsible citizen must protect. This year's delegate to Girls' State was Brenda Kirwan; alternates: Patricia Whalen, Regina Ryan, Andrea Dembrowsky, Joyce Kennedy, and Mary Creeden.

Band

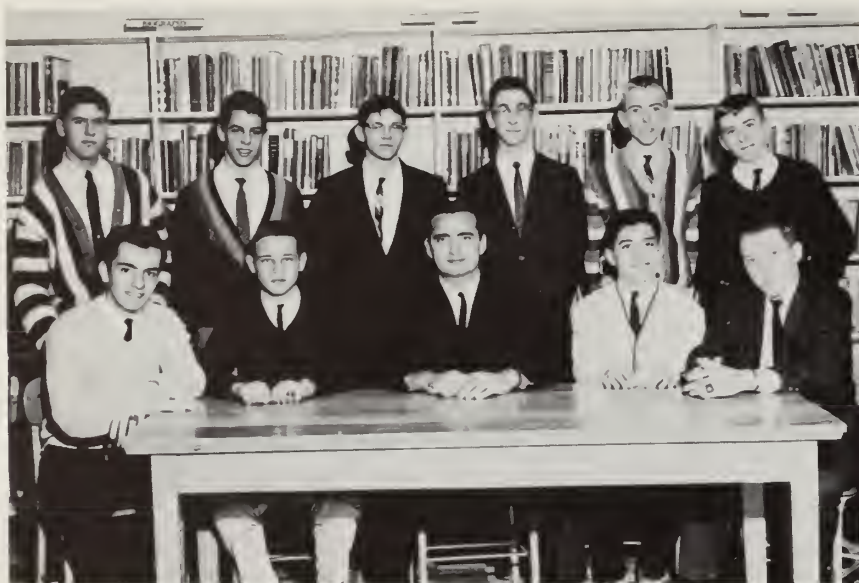

The Stoughton High School Band has completed a very successful second year under the direction of Mr. Donald LeGrow. In the fall, the band played at all the football games and participated in the pre-game rallies. The traditional Christmas concert was well received and like last year "Sleigh Ride" was very popular. This year was a very busy one for the band with the Spring Concert, the Exchange Concert with Maine in March, and graduation. This year Mr. LeGrow introduced the Alumni Concert with many former band members. The officers for this year were, President George Blum; Vice-President Joseph Mason; Secretary Madeline Ball; Librarian Paul Lanza; and Sergeant at Arms George Murphy.

Chorus

Under the direction of Mr. Donald LeGrow, the Stoughton High School chorus is rapidly acquiring recognition as a competent amateur vocal group. This year the chorus sent several representatives to the Southeastern Mass. District festival and also the Southeastern Mass. Band Masters' Assc. music festival. The chorus, in conjunction with the High School Band and Junior High School Chorus, presented the annual Christmas Concert as well as a highly successful Spring Concert. With the advent of new music facilities, the chorus looks ahead to years of growth and increased membership.

Math Competition Club

The Math Competition Club, under Mr. Nastasi's direction, seeks to promote the interest of students in the field of mathematics. The club is a team which competes with teams from other schools in the Eastern Massachusetts district. Math competition is held about four times a year at various schools; Braintree, Brockton, Bishop Stang, Thayer Academy, Howard School, and Weymouth among them. There are four divisions in competition: arithmetic, geometry, Algebra I and Algebra II. Algebra II is subdivided into trigonometry and second year algebra. When not in competition, the club members compete with one another.

Rifle Club

Under the supervision of Mr. Robert L. Lynch, the Stoughton High School Rifle Club meets weekly at the Stoughton Fish and Game Association's rifle range. A member of the National Rifle Association, the club seeks to teach its members the fundamentals of riflery. The safe handling of rifles is stressed with the aid of pamphlets donated by the National Rifle Association and by several sporting arms companies. At present the club meets in limited competition with other high schools in the area, but it is hoped that future competition will include more participants. Officers for the 1964-'65 season are Ken Gusciora, president, and Dave Taylor, secretary and treasurer

Audio-Visual Aids Club

A club which provides enjoyment for its members as well as public service, the Audio-Visual Aids Club is under the supervision of Mr. McGeough. The members of the club are thoroughly familiarized with the handling of equipment such as projectors, tape recorders and record players. They provide valuable assistance to teachers in setting up and showing movies, films, etc. This year's membership includes: Joe Pitta, Bob Quartarone, Carl Andreson, Paul Doody, John Clark, and Phillip Techeira.

Photography Club

Often seen toting rather elaborate cameras and other equipment characteristic of the photographer, members of the Photography Club are a familiar sight to the students of Stoughton High. From the first snap of the shutter to the final printing of the developed picture, the students, under the direction of Mr. Maioli, learn and put to practical use the principles of photography. The club provides both working experience in photographic technique and enjoyment for its members.

Monitors

The Monitors' Club is one of the most active clubs at S.H.S. An asset to both faculty and student body, the club's main functions are to control traffic in the halls and on the stairways, to supervise the cafeteria lunches, and to bring forth students disobeying school rules. The success of the club belongs largely to advisor Mr. Antonellis and officers Ed Gomes, president, Joe DeCastro vice-president, and Dave Turner, secretary and treasurer. The membership of the club is drawn from Industrial Arts students and is contingent upon obedience to both school and club regulations. Expanding in both size and efficiency, the club will be a beneficial addition to Stoughton High for many years to come.

Industrial Arts Society

The Industrial Arts Society, one of the largest and most popular clubs at Stoughton High, draws its membership entirely from students enrolled in the industrial arts course. The advisor is Mr. Antonellis; the officers are Ed Gomes, president; Joe DeCastro, vice-president; John Kane, secretary; Dave Turner, treasurer. The Society sponsors the annual Shop Hop, operates a rent-a-tool system, and plans several field trips each year. This year as previous years suggests that the Industrial Arts Society will remain a popular club at S.H.S.

Library Assistants

The students who spend their study periods, mornings, and afternoons as library assistants do innumerable jobs for Miss Simmons. The pupils not only take the attendance, check passes, and check out books but also help with the mechanics of library operation. They check off bills, record the new books, file the cards, and also assist other students. The students currently assisting Miss Simmons are: Sally Lockwood, William Clinton, Susan Mears, Roger Hall, and Robert Mutascio.

Guidance Assistants

For the fifth consecutive year, students have given up their study periods in order to assist our guidance counselors. These students perform various helpful and needed tasks such as filling out appointment slips, keeping catalogs and brochures in order, and assisting students when possible. The guidance assistants are: Janice Anagnostan, Elizabeth Madan, Mary Creeden, and Mary Case.
